Tale of a Jaguar.

before his departure, in Omaha. It was one of the most lovely of June days, and he was walking eagerly up the carriage drive leading to the house, when happening to cast his gaze toward the upper windows, he caught sight of a fair, white, draped figure that was watering some flower plants that stood in a row on the sill. He at once recognized the figure as that of

"Dear me, how alarming," commented Mr. Hanscom, and the exclamations seem so slight after the awful story that Mr. Hanscom felt seriously disappointed. "That fully accounts for his low spirits. His right arm—"

"Yes, torn out of the socket. He has learned to write with his left hand."

"Ah, dreadful! And his left eye destroyed?"

"Yes, he wears a glass eye, poor fellow!"

"It must be agony. And the calf of his leg deeply scored? Terrible misfortune! And when you left him

Mr. and Mrs. Partridge were of that kind of Christians who believed in going to church themselves and leaving their children to play the heathen at home. And Ebenezer, the second son, did his best to make most of these advantages. From his infancy he had taken advantage of the closed eyes of the family while at prayer to get into the sugar bowl, and now that he was a great boy of 12 years he found much to do that he considered profitable for his own stomach.

"They look awful black."
"Yes alongside of the white flour."

But Ebenezer slipped out of the door, calling Wallace to come and see the rooster fight.

As soon as Wallace made his appearance Ebenezer cried out, "Don't you dare tell, you little rascalion. Didn't I promise you a popgun, a whipcord and ever so many cards if you wouldn't tell? Let them find it out the best they can."

"But poor Bell is in disgrace," whispered Wallace.

"I'll make it all right with her. I'll give her the biggest bag of

They are frequently on the move, leaving one place as soon as the game there becomes scarce. For this reason the country is marked by the sites of tented tents. The people are very much afraid of white men if they come in considerable force, but if their numbers greatly exceed the whites who visit them they are very impudent and are likely to be hostile. They are not anthropophagists as has been asserted. The fact that they are in the habit of burning the bones of the animals they eat, probably gave rise to the report

It is estimated that the wealth of the United States now exceeds the wealth of the whole world at any period prior to the middle of the eighteenth century.

Home Flashes and Stray Sparks from Abroad.

The individual who predicted a cool summer is perspiring freely and waiting for somebody to put him on ice.

The thermometer registered 96 and 98, Monday and Tuesday.

—Moonlight evenings, strawberry festivals and the like, encourage promenades and drives.

—It is still a question whether it is the white horse or the driver, which attracts most; probably some of both.

—Those who hasten to remark that the Ursinus boys "can't play ball" must remember that a good horse can't win a race if pitted against a better one, and that a good musician gets in the shade when a greater one comes to the front, and so on.

—It is easy to stand off at a safe distance and criticize; quite easy; because it is so easy some folks like to do it. If it was picking potatoe bugs or breaking stone a little would last a season.

—The alumni of Perkiomen township will hold an open meeting in Broome's hall, Schwenksville, next Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. All invited.

—A new poet has entered the arena, witness "The Two Graves" by our young friend J. Howard Johnson, on the first page.

—Abram Brower, well known to many of our readers, is now proprietor of the Union Hotel, Phenixville. He knows how to keep a public house.

—Good! Star Chief, owned by Messrs Anderson and Ashenfelter, this township, won a race at Pottstown last week in 2:31 2/3 and 2:30, and while doing it showed a '20 gait.

—Cap. and Jim, after a good deal of serious contemplation have finally resolved themselves into a unit on the stone question, and their opinion is that brownstone is "the stuff." This is doing pretty well for the assistant overseers, up at the big building.

—Samuel H. Hendricks and wife drove from Philadelphia to this place Sunday and attended the funeral of A. W. Beard, Tuesday.

—The newspaper man who saw, or thought he saw, a dead body floating in the Schuylkill the other day, couldn't get Coroner Long to see what he saw and was arrested besides. He was soon released however.

—A large number of cases of prostration by heat were reported in Philadelphia Monday and Tuesday. No wonder.

—A man giving the name of A. Sherman, of New Orleans, was Friday discovered robbing the office of Dr. Porter, of Pottstown. He had taken $80 when he was captured.

—Two valuable horses belonging to J. K. Rhoads, of New Hanover, were killed by direction of the State Board of Agriculture. They were afflicted with malignant glanders.

—Perkiomen creamery, at Creamery, Schuylkill township, was robbed of about 400 pounds of butter one night last week. Three chests were also taken. A wagon was used to haul the butter away.

—Sheriff Rorer has seized upon the personal property of Garrett Stemple, Lower Providence, which he will sell at public sale next Monday. This advertisement is free; we haven't room for the poster or we might publish that too. The present Sheriff is a great advertiser in his own way; and greatness is its own reward in this case, perchance.

—The Phenixville Military Band is one of the best known musical organizations in Pennsylvania. It was organized June 5, 1847, and its surviving members, of whom in the course of forty-four years there have been several hundred, are to hold a reunion.

Religious.

Episcopal services at St. James' church, Evansburg, one mile from Collegeville, every Sunday at 10 a. m., and 3 p. m. Rev. A. J. Barrow, rector.

Preaching at St. Luke's, Trappe, next Sunday at 10 a. m., by the pastor. All invited.

Commencement, '91.

The commencement season at Ursinus next week, beginning with Vice President Super's baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening, will be perhaps the most important in the history of that Institution. The laying of the cornerstone of Bomberger Memorial Hall, together with the extensive proportions of the coming magnificent building as revealed by the masonry already completed, will surely add special interest to the series of commencement events. We expect to publish the proceedings up to Wednesday in next week's issue.

Meeting of Farmers.

The Farmers' Union of Montgomery, Chester, Bucks and Delaware counties, in session at the Farmers' Hotel, Norristown, on Thursday, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, H. C. Hoover; Secretary, M. H. Walters; Assistant Secretary, J. W. Schleicher; Treasurer, Horace Ashenfelter; Executive Committee, John G. Fetterolf, William N. Buck, Garrett Hunsicker, B. B. Conrad, B. M. Custer. The following resolution was passed:

Resolved, We, the Farmers' Union of Montgomery, Chester, Delaware and Bucks counties, feel that we have cause to be congratulated in the fact that our last Legislature has accomplished quite a number of things in the interest of the farmers and tax payers in general; and feel that much still remains to be done and wish that the good work may still continue until we obtain full justice and equity to all.

Western Horses.

D. H. Casselberry has arrived at his stables, near this place, with another ear load of Western horses, comprising good workers and drivers and general purpose horses; also several fine steppers. Go and see them.

Ducks Killed.

Last Thursday night a destructive and blood-thirsty animal, species unknown, visited the poultry yard of Mrs. Kate Kratz, Lower Providence, and killed 21 ducks out of a flock of 30.

Will Go to Minneapolis as a Delegate.

The Society of Christian Endeavor of Norristown, will send A. W. Bomberger, Esq., of that place, to the International Convention of the Y. P. S. C. E., to be held at Minneapolis from the 9th to the 13th of July.

Fell Thirty-three Feet.

Charles Hestner, aged 13, lives near the Almshouse, this township. Wednesday morning of last week he fell from a pear tree to the ground, a distance of 33 feet. He was carried to his home in an unconscious condition, but fortunately no bones were broken.

Assaulted by Tramps.

Last Thursday night Mrs. J. Carr, of Conshohocken, was waylaid in a dark street of that borough by two tramps, who terribly abused her and left her lying unconscious on the pavement until she was discovered by a passer-by, who removed her to a neighboring house, where she lies in a precarious condition. No clue to her assailants have been discovered.

Luscious Strawberries.

The other morning Supervisor Jacob Williams brought to this office several quarts of the finest strawberries of the present season. One of the berries measured 1 1/2 inches in circumference, and a dozen or more measured over six inches each. The scribe, and the scribe's folks think Mr. Williams is great in the matter of strawberry culture, and overly kind besides.

A Busy Undertaker.

The unusual mortality in this section within the past ten days has kept that careful and efficient undertaker, W. J. Mauger of Trappe, very busy. He has managed, however, to meet every demand. Whilst in a certain sense undertakers "thrive upon the misery of others," yet since death is an absolute necessity the office of the one who serves after Doctors fail is a very important and responsible one.

A Fall Causes Unconsciousness.

Winfred, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Landis, this place, was playing in one of the upper rooms of the house, Monday evening, when he fell and violently struck the back part of his head against the floor, producing unconsciousness, which lasted for some time. Dr. Krusen promptly attended the case and found that the shock whilst severe, would not be likely to cause serious results. Tuesday morning Winfred was much better.

Coming Festivals.

The strawberry and ice cream festivals to be held at the Episcopal church, Evansburg, and at the Almshouse, next Saturday afternoon and evening, will doubtless attract large gatherings of people. There is no reason why both enterprises should not prove successful, provided the weather is favorable. The Evansburg festivals have been popular for years and rarely fail in satisfactory results, whilst Garwood comes up smiling every time, for the Almshouse grove is another popular place.

A Successful Festival.

The strawberry and ice cream festival under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity church, on the college campus Saturday afternoon and evening, was a success. The attendance in the evening was large and an extensive trade in ice cream and home made candy was done. The various stands were neatly fitted up, and the light from Japanese lanterns and the moon assisted in making the surroundings attractive and cheerful. The Ironbridge Band discoursed pleasant music during the evening. Net proceeds, about $40.

A Lawn Party.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of St. Luke's Reformed church, Trappe, on Tuesday evening, June 9th, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Fulmer, held its first social. It was in the form of a lawn party. More than fifty persons were present. Music and declamation enlivened the occasion. The young folks (for they were nearly all such) apparently enjoyed themselves. An important factor that contributed to the special enjoyment of all was the serving of refreshments, including ice cream and strawberries. The evening was pleasant and everything seemed to conduce in making the affair an entire success, which it really was. The Social Committee deserves praise for its excellent work and special thanks are due Mr. and Mrs. Fulmer for their kindness in lending their lawn and making the necessary preparations.

Fifteen Nails in Her Foot.

The Pottstown Ledger of Thursday contained a remarkable story concerning Addie Handwork, of East Nantmeal township, Chester county. Quite recently Miss Handwork made a misstep and immediately afterward felt a stinging sensation in the heel of her left foot. A small red mark as if the skin had been punctured by a pin was the only apparent cause of the pain. She continued to suffer excruciating pain and finally applied a piece of fat pork to the wound. In a short time a foreign substance was observed peeping out from the heel. With the aid of a pair of tweezers a nail three-fourths of an inch was removed. The pain continued and subsequent applications of pork, with the aid of a physician, fourteen other nails and fragments were taken from the foot, ranging from an inch to three-fourths in length. To add to the mystification of the almost incredible tale the afflicted lady never recalls having run then in her foot, nor does her parents ever recall she ever complained. The story is certainly a most remarkable one and Miss Handwork is the talk of the section of country where she resides.

Sailed for Switzerland.

Mrs. A. Reichenbach, wife of Professor Reichenbach, of Ursinus, left New York city by steamer Saturday on a journey to Switzerland, where she will visit her mother and other relatives. Mrs. R., whose health has been impaired for some time, is accompanied by her eldest daughter. After seeing his wife and daughter sail aboard the "floating city," the Professor returned to his residence at Trappe, Saturday evening, where he expects to practically live the life of a bachelor for several months.

An Electric Plant at Yerkess.

Yerkess Station is clearly ahead of neighboring villages, in one particular at least; and the individual who will so far forget himself as to refer to that place as "Geetzville" in the future, will be handled as though he were a heap of rubbish. Last week Mr. J. C. Landis, of this place, established a dynamo plant of 25 candle power at Landis Bros.' mill, where connection was made with the shafting propelled by water power. By means of two cables the force of the dynamo is to be communicated to the hoisting apparatus of the large warehouse on the opposite side of the Perkiomen, and henceforth electric instead of muscular force will perform all the work pertaining to the elevator. Score one for Yerkess; of course Collegeville had something to do with it, but Yerkess gets the cake. The world is moving on and the next thing Yerkess will be getting electric lights for her mansions and the post office.

Deaths.

With the eternal Power from which we derived our being: "with moon, with noon, with night; with cherubim, with seraphim; with trees and birds; with leaf and bud, with flowers and blossoming vines; with all the sweet influences of Nature, we leave our dead."

Knocked Down by His Horses.

John Detwiler, who owns and conducts an extensive farm near the Dunkard meeting house, Skippack, made a remarkable as well as a most fortunate escape from serious injury and possible death Monday evening. He was on his way to Philadelphia with a two-horse load of marketing. Near a bridge spanning the new railroad between Norristown and the Almshouse, he was thrown from the wagon and took the horses by the head for the purpose of allaying their fear of the cars. He was unable however to control them and was thrown violently to the ground, the horses with the broken tongue attached to them jumping over him in their efforts to get away. They ran into Norristown, where they were captured and found to be uninjured. Mr. Detwiler was removed to the Hartman House and placed in the hands of a physician. A. W. Beard, who was with him, saw the shock and several bruises made him feel very uncomfortable. Mr. D., arrived at this place Tuesday morning on his way home.

Personal.

Mr. G. W. Ozias, Jr., of Trappe, left for Florida Monday morning. He expects to remain south for some time.

John W. Dietrich and wife, of Philadelphia, were in town on Sunday, and attended the funeral of Mr. and Mrs. Yeagle's little daughter. Mr. Dietrich is still suffering very much from the effects of his serious illness last winter. We hope he will soon recover.

H. W. Kratz, President of Schwenksville Bank and Secretary and Treasurer of the recently formed Times syndicate of Norristown, was in town, Tuesday, attending a meeting of the Building Committee at Ursinus. He spent a portion of the afternoon on the attractive lawn of the Collegeville Hotel and succeeded in interesting mine host Gross by revealing some of the mysteries of human nature. In regard to some points neighbor Gross is somewhat undecided.

Mr. C. B. Huston, of Indianapolis, was in town Sunday, the guest of Rev. H. T. Spangler and wife. Mr. Huston is an uncle to Mrs. Spangler, and an uncle, by marriage, to President Harrison.

Independent District.

At the recent audit for this district, when the business of the old Board was closed up, all was found correct with a balance of $142.52 in the treasury. The whole number of pupils enrolled was 141. The average per cent. of attendance was 89. The reports of our school committee answer why this average is so low and why they have starved the minds of their children by keeping them out of school. The new Board was legally organized on the first day of July by electing W. P. Fenton, President, and D. M. Fulmer, Treasurer. P. Willard was re-elected Secretary. The term was fixed at eight months, the schools to open Aug. 31, 1891. A levy of two mills was ordered to meet the expenses of the schools. Many of us have noted with satisfaction the liberal appropriations made by the last legislature for the support of common schools, but the appropriation under the bill allowing the schools of Pennsylvania $5,000,000 a year, instead of $2,000,000 as now, is not payable until the first Monday in June, 1892. Then each district will be entitled to $2.50 for every $1 paid to it at present. The appropriations to the schools are made according to the number of taxables in each district, and the rate distributable is $1.38 3/4 for every taxable. The rate per taxable when the $5,000,000 are paid out to the school districts will be $3.45.75. The examination of the teachers for the district will be held in the Trappe School House, June 29th, the class to be present promptly at an early hour.

Annual Convention.

The annual convention of the Schuylkill Valley Union of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was held in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Norristown, on Thursday, June 11, at 8 p. m. The business meeting was held in the Sunday school room at 7:30 p. m. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Rev. T. M. Jackson; Vice President, Augustus Bomberger, Esq.; Secretary, Miss Anna M. Bard; Treasurer, F. G. Hobson Esq. After the appointment of a committee and a few short discussions the meeting adjourned to the upper room. An anthem by the choir opened the exercises. Devotional exercises followed. Rev. T. M. Jackson, pastor, delivered an earnest and sympathetic address of welcome. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Chas. Heber Clark, of Conshohocken, who delivered the annual address, speaking from the text: "Seest thou a man of diligence he shall stand before kings." Mr. Clark in his usual vigorous style referred to the liquor traffic, corrupt politics, Sabbath desecration and Sunday newspapers. He urged the people both old and young to choose the right and stick to it, regardless of party, public opinion, and things of this world.

The building is going up at a good rate. An increased force of workmen are now carrying on the work.

Prof. Peters, and Yost, '91, have been engaged for some time in classifying the books donated to the school by Dr. Bomberger.

There was a large number of visitors at the strawberry festival.

On Friday evening the Schaff Society inaugurated the following offi-world. The address was well received. The members of the Society of Christian Endeavor of Trinity Reformed church, Collegeville, attended the convention in a body. Charles Hunsicker of Ironbridge conveyed the party, 22 in all, to Norristown in a large land wagon drawn by his four trusty steers. All seemed to enjoy the trip to and from Norristown as much as the meeting.

Ellis Alderfer while driving toward Norristown, on Saturday, met two young men from Schwenksville on bicycles, when his horse suddenly turned around and broke one of the wheels of his vehicle. The young men agreed to pay all damages.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fry, of near Royersford, were driving along the pike below Limerick Square last Wednesday, when the shafts became detached from the buggy, when the horse became frightened and started to run, throwing the occupants out, by which they sustained some very severe bruises but resulting in no serious injury. After running a short distance the horse was captured.

Fernwood festival on last Friday and Saturday evenings was an interesting and successful one. On Friday evening a goodly number, principally young people, were gathered together and enjoyed themselves hugely. On Saturday evening the Humane Band of Royersford entertained a vast concourse of people with some excellent music.

On last Thursday we "took in" the fair at Pottstown and think we got the worth of our money. The only reference we shall make thereto is, the donkey race between "Tom and Jerry"—which was somewhat in striking contrast with the fast "nags" of the day; but it reminded us very forcibly of the old Dutch proverb: "War airhalt dar garwint."

The magnificent floral display at the Reformed church, Trappe, last Sunday, must have been an inspiration to the pastor, Rev. E. Clark Hilsbman, who preached one of the most eloquent sermons of his pastorate on "The Significance of Flowers."

FROM LIMERICK.

Miss Nora Keim, of Pottstown, and Miss Jennie Daub, of West Philadelphia, spent Saturday and Sunday in this vicinity.

Ellis Alderfer while driving toward Norristown, on Saturday, met two young men from Schwenksville on bicycles, when his horse suddenly turned around and broke one of the wheels of his vehicle. The young men agreed to pay all damages.

The magnificent floral display at the Reformed church, Trappe, last Sunday, must have been an inspiration to the pastor, Rev. E. Clark Hilsbman, who preached one of the most eloquent sermons of his pastorate on "The Significance of Flowers."

At last Thursday we "took in" the fair at Pottstown and think we got the worth of our money. The only reference we shall make thereto is, the donkey race between "Tom and Jerry"—which was somewhat in striking contrast with the fast "nags" of the day; but it reminded us very forcibly of the old Dutch proverb: "War airhalt dar garwint."
